

Here is your new tax code for 2012-13

Check it and keep it safe

Your employer or pension provider will use it from 6 April 2012

You need to check your new tax code is on your payslip after 6 April 2012

Why do I need a new tax code?

You need a tax code so your employer or pension provider can take the right amount of tax off your income.

Some people get more than one tax code

If you have more than one job or a job and a pension we may send you a tax code for each one. You don't need to contact us if you get more than one code.

Do I need to do anything now?

No, not unless you think your tax code is wrong. If so, phone us and have your income details and national insurance number ready. If you have an agent tell them you have a new code.

I will be 65 between 6 April 2012 and 5 April 2013 – how will this affect my tax code?

Once you become 65 you are entitled to age-related allowances. The amount you get depends on your age and your total income. We will send you a Pension Review Form four weeks before your 65th birthday to help us work out your code, so there is no need to contact us.
